Play on Augusta

The chance of a lifetime

We are delighted to be able to bring to you, the golfers dream! "The Masters" has long been heralded as the most exclusive tournament in the golfing calendar and having just played host to the 76th Masters, Augusta National is arguably the greatest golf course on the planet. Its exclusivity and extremely limited membership means to almost all of us, playing it is just a pipe dream.

However, through our extensive contact base experience, we are now in a position to make this dream a reality. In just a few months time you could be flying over to Augusta, driving down Magnolia Lane and tackling Amen Corner.

Overview

Your day at Augusta will be spent in the company of one of their members and his guest. Their knowledge and standing within the club will enable you to get the very best out of the experience.

Introductory Dinner

On the evening before you play at Augusta, you will meet the member's guest and be taken for dinner. You will be collected from your chosen hotel by the member's guest and dine at one of Augusta's best-known restaurants. The dinner will enable you to get to know each other and also give you the opportunity to ask any questions. The member's guest will go through the itinerary for the next day before taking you back to your hotel.

The day itself

You will be collected from your hotel by the member's guest to make the short drive to Augusta National Golf Club. On arrival, you will be met by the member and enjoy coffee and refreshments in the famous Clubhouse. Feel free to visit the Pro-shop, buy a shirt or any memento of the day.

At your leisure, you will warm up on the tournament practice facilities, quite possibly the best in the world. March over to the putting green to try and get to grips with the pace and roll of Augusta's infamous greens. Then the dream! Make your way to the first tee to start the round of your life. You've watched many a Masters tournament over the years and wondered what it's like to stand on that first tee thinking of all the challenges that lay ahead, well here's your chance to tackle them.

The day itself

Enjoy what is a true golfer's dream and plot your way round the manicured course, soak up all Augusta National has to offer and savour every second. On completion of your round, you will be invited to join the member and his guest for lunch in the Clubhouse. Rumoured to have one of the most extensive wine lists in southern America, enjoy the opportunity to relax and relive your favourite moments.

Following lunch, you will be given a tour of the clubhouse, the library, where they hold the Champions Dinner on the Tuesday night of Masters Week, the locker room, the Champions locker room and trophy room.

It's time to put on your golf shoes again and march over to the Par 3 Course. Situated on the right side of the tenth tee and famous as the course itself, thanks to the traditional Wednesday Par 3 Tournament, you have the chance to enjoy another part of Augusta National in all its glory. With none of the 9 holes measuring more than 140 yards, this is the ultimate test in touch and finesse. With slopping greens and plenty of water, it may be short but it certainly has its defences.

At the end of this ultimate day of golfing paradise, you will be taken back to your hotel.

You will get a chance to play on the course with a Green Jacket winner. Cornucopia Events can also arrange accommodation at this prestigious experience.

Prices start from £100,000 and £150,000 to play with a legend.

Venice By Invitation Only

Walk through closed doors, sneak into the houses of local aristocrats, explore the backstage of Haute Couture and order a bag with your own photo. That's on the schedule if you explore Venice together with a genie !

La Dolce Vita

In this corner of the lagoon, still unexplored and immune to mass tourism, time seems to have stopped. Close to Venice, far away from the noise, our villa gives us the feeling of being catapulted into a painting.

We admire the scenery of this ancient fish farm caressed by the morning sun rays when a shining Rolls Royce gracefully stops in front of our door. Alessandro Dal Corso's arrival is rather like a scene from a movie. His family has been in the hospitality business for generations, making him a magical host who opens doors to incredible experiences.

We start the day at the island of Torcello for brunch at the Locanda Cipriani, a beautiful inn located far from the hustle and bustle of St Mark's Square. The inn is a rite of passage for gourmets, run by descendants of the Cipriani family. The bar is adorned with pictures of celebrity diners, members of the English Royal Family, Hollywood stars and famous artists like Elton John.

Venice is one of the best places in Europe to buy art, antiques, glassware, laces, shoes and bags.

Arriving along the Brenta Canal, our first stop is with Cristina Rossi at her family's 16th century villa Foscarini Rossi, richly adorned with frescoes and home to the family's private shoe museum. Since 1942, Cristina's family have partnered with some of the most famous stylists, producing shoes for Christian Dior, Yves Saint Laurent, Fendi, Emilio Pucci, Givenchy and Christian Lacroix to name a few.

La Dolce Vita

Alessandro knows the magic formula to open any door, be it the Louis Vuitton factory or the factory of Grazia Pelletteria Bijoux, manufacturers of the finest leather bags for some of the big brands.

Here each bag is individually crafted with iconic images of Times Square, London, Hollywood glamour or an image of personal significance. You can even witness the birth of your very own personalized bag.

We have the rare privilege to be invited to supper with Countess Rizzardi in her family house and one of Italy's most influential architectural monuments, the Villa Valmarana ai Nani.

The villa enjoys an enchanting location on a hill top overlooking Vicenza with the town on one side and the Valley of Silence on the other. The Countess apologizes that she has cooked the meal herself and that this will be a very natural little family affair.

We even find a little hand printed menu, with details of the menu and wines to be tasted. The food is wonderful with all the vegetables hand picked from the garden, dressed with the estate's own extra virgin olive oil and it ends with a surprising sweet red wine that goes well with the warm chocolate dessert.

After taking leave from the Countess, we head back to Venice and hop into one of the sleek slipper boats, for there is no better way to see Venice than from a gondola.

La Dolce Vita

As we arrive back to our villa, tailors from Canali are already waiting to take our measurements – Alessandro has taken the compliments about his dapper suit seriously.

Answering our admiring glance that questions the next surprise with a smile and lets us choose between a private concert of Andrea Bocelli or a dinner with Sting.

Prices start from £7,500 per couple per day or £35,000 for 5 nights.

God's Secret Residence

An island country in a remote corner of Europe with 100% green energy and 0% crime. Sounds like a fairytale? Well, it is, and even more than that. Iceland offers travellers everything beyond imagination, starting from spectacular landscapes and incredible adventures up to utmost luxury.

God's Secret Residence

"I'll take you for the swim of your life", the local beauty hides behind her enigmatic smile, when picking us up at the airport. In less than half an hour the contrast of black lava rocks against the amazing deep blue coloured water suggests we have reached our destination.

Carved in lava, the winding path leads us through a nearly mysterious landscape of scenic beauty to the Blue Lagoon where the warm geothermal seawater, loaded with minerals, splashes away our tiredness. The minerals leave a strange white coating on the rough lava rocks. The steam of water in the crystal clear air adds to these cryptic mineral paintings and the whole setting reminds of some science fiction movie. We apply the silica mud on our faces to look creepy enough to fit into this scene and welcome our cocktail with an uncanny smile.

Refreshed and rejuvenated, we try our hand in the fragile art of ice sculptures, following the secret techniques of our expert artist. Then, leaving our elusive beauties behind, we continue to Reykjavik that keeps up the surreal feeling, awaiting us with highly unusual architecture.

Resting on six huge storage tanks, each able to hold four million litres of geothermal hot water, the top floor of our restaurant slowly rotates, affording a magnificent panorama of the city and surroundings while we enjoy the exquisite modern Nordic cuisine with a Mediterranean twist, before finding out if the legends of the debauch Reykjavik nightlife are really true.

God's Secret Residence

Next day, full of thrilling expectations, we keep in mind the local saying that there's nothing like good or bad weather, it's all about clothing and state of mind. To explore the spectacular scenery of lava fields, mountains and glaciers, we board a super jeep for some off-road adventure flavoured by supreme natural phenomena. We are heading towards inland to see Europe's most powerful waterfall, Gullfoss. A glacier shaped waterfall, formed in five days by an iceberg that travelled trapped under a glacier for many years. It majestically thunders tons of icy water down into a deep gorge. The misty clouds surrounding this natural wonder are filled with dozens of rainbows and the brownish glacial water truly looks golden, leaving us stunned by the monumental beauty of nature. Quite soon, the infamous joke about the Icelandic forests makes total sense: the little clusters of undersized trees on the way confirm why the locals laugh that in case you ever get lost all you need to do is stand up.

Further a mountain road takes us to the second biggest glacier in Europe. After ice climbing, a real outdoor ice buffet with Icelandic delicacies and hot drinks is waiting for us, and now it is not so hard to imagine this 900 year old glacier hosting fully serviced private parties!

Our tour continues to the Geyser area where we discover the famous Geyser which has given name to hot springs all over the world. The once great Geyser has been somewhat shy for a few decades. Apparently it just got tired and needed a rest. Now the crowds get entertained by Geyser's neighbour Strokkur, one of the most active geysers in the area. Every few minutes it spouts steaming hot water up to 30 meters high.

God's Secret Residence

Meandering among steaming vents, colourful mud formations and funny miniature geysers, we find our way out of the Geyser area by twilight. And as every evening, our looks turn skywards with a hope to see these strange faintly coloured beams of northern lights that would create a perfect setting for any fishing and hunting adventure, or even better, a game of cricket or football.

A tête-à-tête with an active volcano is a must in Iceland, though it is a bizarre feeling when the chopper approaches this fire spouting power play of nature. We feel slightly relieved when the distance between us increases. The contrast of fire and ice, earth's constant rumbling, barren lava fields and ash covered hills may have become an integral part of life for the locals, but we are rather as perplexed as the Vikings and other early settlers, who believed that only those who died of old age, sickness, or as a coward were sent to the underworld of "Heljar", a place covered in snow and ice.

By now the entire world is acquainted with Icelandic ash. The eruption of Eyjafjallajökull in 2010 brought the air traffic in Europe to complete standstill by discharging incredible amounts of ash into the sky. To immortalize the fact of an Icelandic volcano, JS Watch Co., the first and only watch manufacturer in Iceland, integrated the miniscule, light volcanic ash into their newest model. So, if it is not enough for you to have the same watch as Quentin Tarantino, King of Greece or His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama, you can try this one. Made with genuine ash from the volcano Eyjafjallajökull. Maybe it really brings the energy and power of the innermost workings of our Earth, as promised by the manufacturers.

REYKJAVIK

God's Secret Residence

And if you are curious to actually see the innermost workings yourself, explore the dormant Thrihnukagigur volcano. Using the necessary gear and equipment, arm yourself with willingness to finish an easy 40 minute hike (to get to the crater) and the guts to descend 120 meters to the bottom of the crater in an open cable lift.

Later, putting on our ice skates and admiring the frozen lake in the crater in front of us, we remember that any volcano is a temperamental creature with magma unceasingly boiling underneath our feet. To calm our adrenaline levels, locals entertain us with stories about their country, which is being run by some thousand people, because two thirds of inhabitants are either too young or too old to work. Another interesting fact? The world's very first parliament was formed in Iceland!

On the way to our next adventure, our guide informs us that a local Viking found America 500 years before Columbus and legend has it that Columbus stopped in Iceland for directions before his journey. We are about to discover a remote corner of Iceland with an unique opportunity to watch polar bears up close.

When engines stop and the silence enwraps us, a sudden realization surfaces. The time to leave this wonderland is approaching, though the few days packed with adventures and the warm welcome made us feel we have been here for ages. There are still so many things we need to see and do. We definitely have to come back, to the custom made ice hotel and have a candle light dinner in a fully serviced volcanic lava cave, 60 metres down! This country is surely addictive, and if God has a residence, it certainly must be in Iceland.

Starting at £3500 per couple per night up to £10,000 per couple per night if we include Heli experiences, gourmet meals on a glacier or underground in a volcanic cave, getting a watch commissioned from the master craftsman etc.

Day 2

The day starts by flying to Langjokull glacier, where we will go Snowmobiling on the second biggest glacier in Europe. After that we fly to the other side of the glacier where we will take you into the winter wonderland; many of you might think this is dangerous and too extreme. Many of the most stunning places of Iceland are hidden and you need to put a little effort to see them! Our surviving the glacier day is easy and we take you out of your comfort zone to a world known to us as pure nature.

Ice hiking or skiing: Suitable for all levels, the level of difficulty is adaptable to suit each individual with your PTI mountain guides. You can learn the basics and the correct techniques and how to use the appropriate equipment. Today's Lunch will be on the top of the flat ice cooked by your own private chef.

After lunch we drive down from the glacier on self-drive Super Jeeps to road no 1 the Icelandic ring road where we will go flying again. Super jeeps will be at the glacier for you to test to drive on a glacier and in snow conditions. Mountain guides that have proven them self in the hardest conditions known to man will teach you how to handle the super jeep and tell you stories about their journeys.

Drive the super jeeps down to Gullfoss waterfall, which is often said to be one of 10 most beautiful waterfalls in the world. From Gullfoss we drive to the Geyser area, we will see Strokkur's force erupt up to 30 meters up in the air! A chef from Hotel Geyser ready and waiting with a geothermal cooked afternoon snack.

From here we head back to the helicopter and then continue to Thingvellir. The 2 tectonic plates meet at Thingvellir and from air we will see it clearly where the Eurasian plate and the North American plate meet with stunning view over the lake of Thingvellir.

Now almost back to Reykjavik we fly over the down town area until we see the domestic airport where we land after a fantastic day.

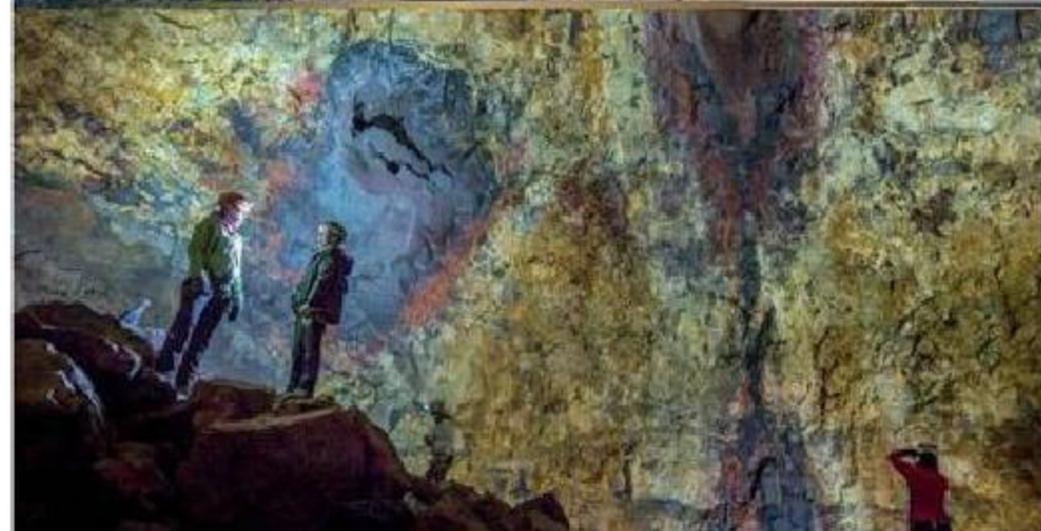

Private dinner at the black pearl. Your guide will have a surprise for you here. During the day he carved out a 2000 year old chunk of ice and took it with him back to the helicopter. Tonight you will drink good whiskey with 2000 year old ice in it!

Day 3

More adventures in the sky, as we start the day back in the air. And what a day it is going to be. Your guide will pick you up from the hotel and drive to the domestic airport to meet with the helicopter pilots. After a short briefing we are airborne and flying over the city of Reykjavik towards Blafjoll.

On arrival we are going to do something unimaginable, by going into a volcano. Yes, into a volcano! It's been over four decades ago since the first man set foot on the moon. But it's only now that humans are offered the chance to see what the inside of a volcano looks like. The dormant Thrihnukagigur volcano (good luck trying to pronounce it!) is a unique natural phenomenon. By putting up the necessary gear and equipment, we have created a tour that opens the door into a new world. It's not even complicated to experience it all you need is the willingness and the guts to descend 120 meters/400 ft to the bottom of the crater in an open cable lift.

After this once in a lifetime experience we fly over Hekla, the queen of Icelandic volcanoes whilst on our way to Eyjafjallajokull the volcano that erupted powerfully in 2010 and closed down the European air traffic for a week. We fly into the crater where the ash plume rose up 10km up in the sky, and you can only imagine the power as this little creator spewed around.

Day 3

500 tons of ash a second. Eyjafjallajökull is a glacier and the volcano was under all of the ice, so seeing it from air is just absolutely stunning. From Eyjafjallajökull we fly to Fimmvordurhals or the newest mountain in Iceland formed in 2010 just 2 weeks before Eyjafjallajökull started to erupt. Once the heli lands, there we have lunch prepared by a private chef who will cook for you on one of the newest land on the planet. Seeing the steam rise from the warm lava is a surreal experience, you can even own one of the newest rocks in the land by picking one lava rock to take home with you.

Airborne again we fly over Thorsmork, the woods of the god Thor on our way inland to Landmannalaugar. On our way we will fly over glaciers and strange mountains with all kinds of colours. From red, pink, yellow to green we will land in Jokulgil or the glacier canyon to just admire the beauty in front of us, as this kind of landscape is very unique to this world.

Now it's time to fly home to our base that is now on the south shore, a private lodge called Holar.

A Private Chef will be on hand to make dinner ready for this evening. Later on this evening we can have private horses for a midnight horseback journey in the area of Thorsmork.

Day 4

Today we fly east along the dramatic South Coast of Iceland. En route to Jokulsárlón Glacier Lagoon. We follow the never ending stretches of black lava sand beaches past the famous Eyjafjallajökull glacier volcano and tumbling waterfalls. Once we reach the glacier lagoon we stop to give time for a private boat ride. Ice berg exploration and seal watching.

A private lunch set up with new moment's tents and a private chef whilst overlooking the glacier lagoon.

As we head back westerly we fly over the countless Vatnajökull glacier tongues, past the highest peak of Iceland, and to the remote and rugged Fjallabak nature reserve. You'll see parts of the island that are hidden to all but few. Having ariel access to highland lakes, braided rivers, glacial-hewn valleys, towering mountains and majestic and primal volcanic scenery.

Now we go to Vestmannaeyjar or the Westmann islands that erupted powerfully in 1973. We will have a look at the islands from air and of course land and see it from sea. We will have a private rib boat safari around Westmanna islands on a powerful rib boat.

Airborne again we go to fly back to Holar where a private chef will be waiting for you ready to teach you to cook the famous Icelandic lamb teaching you the tricks of the trade!

Day 5

Today is the day to get up close and personal. Our destination today is Landmannalaugar on a super jeep or a quick visit to Mars or even the Moon. On our way to Landmannalaugar we pass by Hekla volcano before we arrive at the interior route, across lava fields and black ash and scoria deserts. Landmannalaugar is an area of great contrasts with black ridges and colorful mountains of green, red, yellow and orange.

We will set up a base in middle of nowhere and have a wellness moment. We will set up sweat tents and have a private Yoga teacher or a story teller to get you in the mood and let you breath in Iceland. A private lunch will be served today at the base.

Take in the fresh air with all the untouched nature, rivers, craters, high mountains and massive lava fields giving you the feeling of something very special. We recommend you top the day off with a nice hot bath in a natural pool!

After exploring the interior of Iceland it's time to head back to the civilization in Reykjavik Overnight at the Black pearl where your private chef will be on hand to prepares tonight's delights.

After dinner a member of the beer school in Iceland will teach you everything you need to know about Icelandic beer. You will have a taste of the best, as Egils Gull has been voted the best standard lager beer in the world at the world beer awards.

Day 6

A private airplane will be ready for you this morning at the domestic airport in Reykjavik ready to take you to explore the north.

The flight takes about 40 minutes from Reykjavik. Upon arrival in Akureyri we will be met by our car ready to start driving around the capital in the north. Akureyri is Iceland's second largest urban area after the greater Reykjavik area with about 18,000 inhabitants.

We leave Akureyri and head to Godafoss (waterfall of the gods). At Godafoss around the year 1,000 a law speaker threw his statues of Norse gods into the waterfall and made Christianity the official religion of Iceland. Smart move as now 1,000 years later we still stop at this waterfall to see its beauty and of course remembering our sagas.

From Godafoss we head to Lake Myvatn a shallow eutrophic lake not far from Krafla volcano that erupted from the years 1975-1984 (not constantly). We will make few stops at Lake Myvatn and see Skutustadir and Dimmuborgir (Dark Cities). The Dimmuborgir area consists of a massive collapsed lava tube formed by a lava lake.

Lunch today will be set up by a private chef in Dimmuborgir.

From Dimmuborgir we drive to Namafjall, a geothermal area with a collection of mud pits, steam eruption and out of this world landscape. You sometimes feel like Curiosity on Mars driving through Namafjall, it's always good to stop and walk and explore the area on foot for a short while.

Next we drive to Dettifoss waterfall, 100 meters wide with drop of 45 meters, and having an average water flow of 193 m<sup>3</sup>/s making it the most powerful waterfall in Europe. With such a powerful natural phenomenon you get the sense of how small we are compared to nature, taking the time to just watch and take everything in.

From Dettifoss we go to Asbyrgi canyon. The horseshoe shaped depression measures approx. 3.5 km length and 1.1 km across. Nicknamed Sleipnir's footbridge as it's said that the canyon was formed when Odin's eight legged horse, Sleipnir, touched one of its feet to the ground here.

After the days exploring, now we start to head back to Reykjavik city. We say good bye to Asbyrgi and drive to Akureyri to catch our flight back to Reykjavik.

Day 7

Today we will head out of the city. Our first stop is at Thingvellir where the Vikings established the first Parliament and now the oldest still working Parliament in the world. Althing (the Parliament) has been working uncut since 930. Today Thingvellir is a national park and also the only place in the world where you can stand on the American tectonic plate overlooking the Eurasian plate. Good place for the oldest Parliament right? Thingvellir is a natural wonder on an international scale earning a place on UNESCO World heritage list.

After a light walk in Thingvellir it's time for a Private Dive in Silfra.

When we arrive at the dive site where we will gear up and walk to the platform, your guide will give you a briefing on the first dive. We'll take a few steps down the ladder and make contact to the World's clearest water and dive in. Take a sip!

The slight current formed by the underground wells will make our dive in the crack an easy one. Your dive guide will lead the dive and take photos and videos.

After the first dive we will make our way back along a challenging but rewarding 250m path with our dive gear before warming our hands and spirits over some hot chocolate and delicious cookies.

We usually plan our dives so that we see Silfra Hall, Silfra Cathedral and the Silfra Lagoon on both dives. The SILFRA Rift is an absolute world class dive! First of all you will be diving in a crack between the American and Eurasian continents.

It's the place where the continental plates meet and drift apart about 2cm per year. Secondly the visibility that you will experience will rarely be surpassed, if ever, 100m+! The reasons for this clarity are twofold: the water is cold (2°C - 4°C all year) since it's the melting water from a glacier about 50km away and has travelled through the lava fields for many years before coming out at the north end of Thingvellir lake through underground wells.

The Silfra water is as pristine as water can get and you can drink it at any time during the dives.

Private lunch in Thingvellir national park with a private chef. Then back to Reykjavik, afternoon at leisure.

Travel to the heart of Chocolate and Visit Phantom of the Opera

We suggest 2 hours of Tamanaco session at 'Maison du Chocolat'; at a private salon in the boutique, where you travel to the heart of chocolate, from cocoa beans to Ganache. You will learn and participate in the three main steps involved in the production of chocolate: the cultivation of cocoa (pods, plantations, beans), the transformation into chocolate (nibs, cocoa paste, cocoa butter, chocolate coatings) and finally the creation of handmade chocolates such as Ganache – the expertise of this chocolate house. There will be multiple tastings throughout the visit (3 chocolate coated sweets, 3 pure Ganaches) and you leave with a box of 6 chocolates and with documentation linked to the 'Tamanaco' session (chocolate glossary and Ganache recipe).

Lunch at a top gourmet restaurant, menu that has been elaborated by Guy Martin.

We suggest a themed 1 ½ 'After hours' visit (Phantom of the Opera) of the beautiful Opera Garnier.

The Crazy horse show has a VIP seating area with priority access and cloakroom, half a bottle of Milsieme champagne and canapes from Dalloyau.

Enjoy a sumptuous dinner at a legendary restaurant.

Cooking, French Pastry and Haute Couture Jewelry Classes – Mellerio & Walter Steiger with personal shopper (by invitation only)

A cooking lesson at the lovely school of Guy Martin where the chefs have all worked in his Michelin restaurant . As an alternative, we could also offer 2 hour French Pastry class at the 'Pavillon Elysée Lenotre', where you will learn 3 French desserts around chocolate: mi-cuit au chocolat, chocolate macarons and chocolate mousse.

Lunch at a Café in Madeleine.

In the afternoon, you will 'voyage' into the secret world of the oldest French jewelry shop of Place Vendome – 'Mellerio dit Meller'. The 15th generation of the Mellerio family will share with you some designs that were created for royalty and famous personalities that tell stories. You will be privileged to have a private and exclusive access to the archives in the basement of the boutique.

Continue by private minibus with your personal shopper to enter into the world of an internationally renowned shoemaker – Walter Steiger, famed for his Oscar boots (curved heel boots) that have seduced famous personalities such as Victoria Beckham.

A splendid meal at one of the trendy Parisian restaurants with great French décor.

Wine based Spa & Versailles Castle

We suggest the only wine based spa treatment available near Paris at 'Les Etangs de Corots' (very close to Versailles). The owners are the same as the Sources des Caudalie in Bordeaux (they are the true pioneers of Vinotherapy).

They offer a bath in red wine, a grape seed scrub and a wine based ritualistic massage – a half day experience that would be perfect to rejuvenate from the fatigue and "hangover" of the previous night.

Lunch at either their gourmet restaurant or at the vaulted cellars under the hotel with its typical bistro food.

Post-lunch, we suggest a private visit (after hours) of the Versaille castle.

Drinks and Dinner at Buddha Bar is followed by clubbing at one of the swankiest clubs in Paris.

Varied Options

- Sky Diving. We suggest the cliffs of Etretat in Normandy, 1.45 hours away from Paris. It's a tandem jump from a plane at 3000 meters and jump off the plane racing to speeds of 200km, during the free fall, before the parachute is opened.
