FUNDRAISING

The Fashion Awards is the primary fundraiser for the next generation of design talent; the legacy of the awards is to secure the future generation of fashion talent while celebrating the outstanding contributions of current industry leaders. The event, organised by the British Fashion Council (BFC), a not-for-profit organisation focused on promoting design excellence in fashion and supporting the future talent pipeline, raises much-needed funds to secure a sustainable pipeline for the future generation of the industry, whose ability to study is impacted by the current level of tuition fees and living expenses. With the designers behind some of the world's most acclaimed brands educated in Britain, the BFC is committed to ensuring that young talent has access to the best education available, regardless of financial background. The BFC Education Foundation is the main beneficiary of The Fashion Awards and promotes excellence in design by financially supporting students with the ability and potential to make an exceptional contribution to the fashion industry. If you would like to donate, please complete the booking form when reserving your box or visit the BFC's charity page at: //fashionawards.com/BFCCharities
